Grantown-on-Spey 2024

Grantown-on-Spey, in the Scottish Highlands, is perfectly placed by the river Spey in the heart of the Cairngorms National Park. Approximately 20 miles south east of Inverness and at one end of Scotland's 90-mile Snow Road, a stretch of landscape from Blairgowrie in Perth and Kinross shire to Grantown in the Highlands, carved by granite and ice, with breathtaking views.

Known in Gaelic as Baile nan Grandach, the town was founded in 1765 as a planned settlement during the Industrial Revolution and was originally called simply Grantown after Sir James Grant [Chief of Clan Grant]. The addition of 'on Spey' was added by the burgh council in 1898.

The town is surrounded by ancient woodlands, which offer a unique habitat for a wide variety of wildlife. There are also numerous other walks and trails around the town which offer wonderful views over the surrounding hills and mountains. The town's Square and High Street are lined with unique, independent and interesting shops with numerous cafes, bars and restaurants offering a wide range of meals, drinks and snacks to suit all tastes and pockets.

All in all, it is a beautiful, charming town with plenty to do for the day visitor and which offers a unique opportunity to experience a traditional Highland town, dating from 1760s.

Strathspey Farmers Club - Heathfield Park [Grantown Showground]

Strathspey Farmers Club has been in existence since 1787 and organises the annual Grantown Show, held in August each year. Heathfield Park is at one end of the town and only a short walk (approx. 15mins) into the town centre and various amenities.

Nearby Attractions

The town boasts a number of other attractions including a superb 18-hole golf course, the Grantown Heritage Museum, the Cairngorms Activity Centre and of course the Speyside Way walking trail, a 137km route from the mouth of the River Spey on the Moray coast, to the heart of the Cairngorms.

Inverness

The Capital of the Highlands lies 35 miles north west of Grantown-on-Spey (by road), with a multitude of tourist attractions, shops and eateries to explore.

Whisky Trail

Whisky is Scotland's national drink and our biggest export, enjoyed across the globe as well as right here in Scotland. Skilled distillers transform barley and water into a precious spirit, which is tucked away to mature. Grantown-on-Spey is conveniently located near the start of the 70-mile-long famous Speyside Malt Whisky Trail, taking in seven world-famous working distilleries, one historic distillery and the fascinating Speyside Cooperage. Speyside is often called 'Malt Whisky Country' as its home to more than half of Scotland's malt whisky distilleries and is one of the country's five whisky regions.

Castles

It is estimated that throughout history Scotland has been home to over 3,000 castles. In the nearby vicinity of Grantown-on-Spey, there are 2 interesting castle ruin sites, Castle Roy and Lochindorb Castle with many more slightly further afield.

Lochindorb comes from the Gaelic meaning 'Loch of Trouble' and the castle has certainly had its fair share of that! Dating back to the 13th century, it was originally held by the Comyns, but later occupied by the English and was visited by Edward I in 1303. Also nearby is Cawdor

Castle, of Macbeth fame, which according to legend, was built around a thorn tree, which can still be seen in the dungeon and has been identified as a holly tree dating from 1372 [approx. 23 miles NW].

Further afield

Across the Highlands of Scotland there is an abundance of villages and towns with something to offer, showcasing the various sectors of Scottish culture and scenery.

Heathfield Park, Granttown-on-Spey, PH26 3HX

Access from the A9 then A95 (from South/West/North) and via Keith/Dufftown and the A95 (from East), then the B9102 from all directions.

It was previously decided by the Scottish Caravan Club Council that a minimum number of the SCC Handbooks would be printed and that a PDF version would be sent to all members and also made available to download from the Scottish Caravan Club website.

Moving towards a digital format will mean that any changes made to rallies can be updated instantly and downloaded from the SCC Website, and as we have seen previously, some rallies have been cancelled which rendered the printed handbook out of date. Furthermore, moving away from a printed format will be in line with the Club's Green Tourism initiative. Going forward, it is time for change and we ask all members to complete the slip below and return it by email or post (please email or telephone Centre Secretary for address details if you wish to post slip to them).

PDF Copies of the Handbook can be downloaded from the Scottish Caravan Club Website and Facebook page and viewed on any mobile device, iPad, Laptop or PC.

Elsan

If there is a ELSAN pit on a Rally Field please ensure that you use ELSAN Green, Thetford Aqua Kem Green or equivalent type product which is a "Organic Toilet Fluid" - Although 'blue' fluids tend to be very good at keeping smells under control, we have made it our policy to use green or organic fluids that allow waste to be safely emptied into septic tanks or ELSAN Pits into the ground. Why not choose to use Green Fluid all the time.
